

Wine Cake

This is a recipe passed to me by my mother Dioraci Urtassum. On November 2025 I created a variation of this cake with blueberries for a board games party. It worked very well

Ingredientes:

- 6 eggs
- 3 cups of sugar (21 oz)
- Grated zest from one orange
- 1/2 teaspoon of salt
- 1 1/2 cup of dry white wine (12.5 oz)
- 1 1/2 cup of flavourless cooking oil (11 oz)
- 4 cups of all-purpose flour (20 oz)
- 1 tablespoon + 1 teaspoon of baking powder

Variation with Blueberries:

- 400 grams of frozen blueberries
- 1/2 cup of flour

Ingredientes (glaze):

- 1 cup of sugar
- 1/2 cup of rum or cognac

Procedure:

1. For variation with blueberries

- Several hours before you plan to prepare the cake, place the frozen blueberries on a colander hanging over a bowl and let them thaw and drain. Do not mix them.

2. Pre-heat oven to 325 F.

3. Prepare three or four loaf pans

- Spray the pans with cooking spray.
- Cut a piece of parchment paper to cover the bottom and the narrow sides of each pan.
- Place the paper in the pan and spray the paper

4. Mix the batter

- Mix the sugar and salt with the orange zest and rub the zest into the sugar with your hands.

- Break the eggs into the sugar and mix well with a wire whisk.
- Add the cooking oil and mix well.
- Add the wine and mix well.
- Mix the flour with the baking powder in a separate bowl.
- Slowly sift the flour over the egg mixture, sifting a small amount at a time and gently folding the flour into the eggs after each sifting — it is important to not stir too much to avoid the development of gluten network and thus obtain a tender cake.
- Divide the batter into the prepared pans.

5. For variation with blueberries

- Sift the 1/2 cup of flour into a large bowl.
- Gently lay the tawed and drained frozen blueberries on top of the flour.
- Gently shake/toss the bowl to turn the blueberries around until each blueberry is fully coated in flour – add some additional flour if needed.
- Divide half of the batter into the bottom of the prepared pans.
- Divide the blueberries and gently spread half of them on top of the batter in the pans — it is best to use a small spoon and lay each blueberry individually in its place.
- Spread the other half of the batter on top of the layer of blueberries.
- Spread the other half of the blueberries on top of the cakes,
- Bake in the middle rack. After 20 minutes rotate the pans.
- The bolos should be baked in about 40 minutes.
- Test by inserting a toothpick into the bolo. It should come out mostly clean.

6. Bake the bolos

- Bake in the middle rack. After 20 minutes rotate the pans.
- The cakes should be baked in about 40 minutes.
- Test by inserting a toothpick into the cake. It should come out mostly clean.

7. Glaze

- Measure the 1 cup of sugar and carefully dump into the center of a small sauce pan.
- Carefully dump 1/2 cup of water around the sugar.
- Take the pan to the stove and cook in moderate heat until all the sugar dissolves — only stir carefully to not splash the sides of the pan if needed after the mixture is already very hot.
- Let the mixture cook until it forms a very thick sirup — you may wish to let it caramelize a bit, but only to a light amber colour.
- Add 1/2 cup of rum or cognac and stir with the thick sirup until it is completely homogeneous.
- As soon as you remove the cakes from the oven, prick the top with a toothpick and divide the glaze amongst the bolos.
- Let the glaze soak into the cakes for about 15 minutes.
- Invert the cakes into a clean cutting board and place them top-side up on a cooling rack.
